DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-12 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

3. Claims 1-4, 6-8, and 9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Suda et al. (6,279,000) (hereinafter Suda).

4. As per claims 1 and 7, Suda discloses an electronic mail distributing apparatus, comprising:

a receiving unit which receives an electronic mail scheduled to be sent to a recipient at a specified date and time (fig 2, 67, abstract, col 7, lines 37-46, col 31, lines 45-54);

a mail storing unit which stores the electronic mail received by said receiving unit (fig 4, 67,68,69,70, abstract, col 7, lines 37-67, col 8, lines 1-20);

a detection unit which detects an electronic mail whose specified date and time becomes the present date and time (abstract, fig 2, 67,68,69,70, col 6, lines 64-67, col 7, lines 1-10); a retrieval unit which retrieves the electronic mail detected by said detection unit, from said mail storing unit (abstract, fig 4, 67,68,69,70, col 7, lines 37-67, col 8, lines 1-20); and a transmitting unit which sends the electronic mail retrieved by said retrieval unit (abstract, col 8, lines 49-67, col 14, lines 3-4).

5. As per claim 2, Suda discloses further comprising a confirmation unit which confirms that the specified date and time to be sent out is set to one after the present data and time, and which then stores the electronic mail in said mail storing unit (fig 67,68,69,70, col 31, lines 55-61).

6. As per claims 3 and 9, Suda discloses further comprising a generating unit which generates header information of the electronic mail retrieved by said retrieval unit (fig 67,68,69,70, col 31, lines 55-61, col 32, lines 1-65).

7. A per claim 4, Suda discloses wherein said detection unit detects an electronic mail whose specified date and time is set to one slightly before the exact specified date and time (fig 67,68,69,70, col 31, lines 55-61,col 32, lines 1-65).

8. As per claim 6, Suda discloses further comprising a receiving unit which receives the electronic mail and reads out the specified date and time and which supplies it to said confirmation unit (col 31, lines 39-61), wherein the specified date and time are entered in a body of an electronic mail message using a tag indicative thereof and said receiving unit reads the specified date and time based on the tag (fig 67, col 31, lines 39-61), and wherein the tag is deleted (fig 66, col 33, lines 20-22) when the electronic mail is sent to the recipient (fig 66,68,69,70).

9. As per claim 8, Claim 8 is rejected for the similar reason as stated above in claim 1, In addition to Suda discloses notifying the originating client if the specified date and time has already passed the present date and time so as to prevent wrong registration of the electronic mail (col 33, lines 35-67, col 34, lines 1-41);

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

10. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

11. Claims 5 and 10-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Suda et al. (6,279,000) (hereinafter Suda) in view of Toyoda et al. (6,614,891) (hereinafter Toyoda).

12. As per claim 5, Suda disclose wherein a data structure of said mail storing unit includes a specified date and time column (col 33, lines 35-55), a recipient address column (col 33, lines 35-55), a sender address column and a message body column (col 33, lines 35-55).

Suda does not specifically disclose a destined country column.

However, Toyoda discloses a destined country (col 3, lines 35-43).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to combine Toyoda with Suda because it would provide an intelligent, modular and multi-facet job scheduler system based on the time zone concept.

13. As per claim 10, Suda discloses wherein the apparatus is implemented in a server (col 48, line 20-26).

However, Toyoda discloses mail server (electronic mail system, fig 3, col 3, lines 35-43). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to combine Toyoda with Suda because it would provide an intelligent, modular and multi-facet job scheduler system based on the time zone concept.

14. As per claim 11, Suda discloses wherein the apparatus is implemented in a server (col 48, line 20-26).

However, Toyoda discloses mail server (electronic mail system, fig 3, col 3, lines 35-43). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to combine Toyoda with Suda because it would provide an intelligent, modular and multi-facet job scheduler system based on the time zone concept.

15. As per claim 12, Suda discloses wherein the apparatus is implemented in a server (col 48, line 20-26).

Suda does not specifically disclose mail server. However, Toyoda discloses mail server (electronic mail system, fig 3, col 3, lines 35-43). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention was made to combine Toyoda with Suda because it would provide an intelligent, modular and multi-facet job scheduler system based on the time zone concept.
